

NATIONAL AMBASSADOR
The International Student Association of Emergency Medicine

ABOUT ISAEM

The International Student Association of Emergency Medicine (ISAEM) aims to promote and foster the concept, philosophy and art of Emergency Medicine among medical students. ISAEM wishes to promote and encourage co-operation, knowledge and education in Emergency Medicine, create an international voice for medical student organizations within Emergency Medicine and finally increase the opportunities for EM interested medical students to a new and higher level.

CURRENT OPPORTUNITY

ISAEM is looking to expand its global reach and presence. We are currently looking for National Ambassadors who will help us promote Emergency Medicine within their country. National Ambassadors are an integral part of ISAEM and work with our dynamic team and share our passion for Emergency Medicine. We are looking for diverse, eager students who are interested in Emergency Medicine. No experience necessary!

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

As a National Ambassador, you will be responsible for:

- Recruiting EM doctors from your country for interviews
- Recruiting student volunteers for translation
- Posting about EM opportunities for students in your country
- Curating one or two posts per year on various topics such as the history of EM in your country, personal experience, and relevant news/updates

As a student run organization, we understand that your time is valuable and that school is a priority. ISAEM is very flexible regarding commitments and deadlines, and you will work with our Executive Board to set reasonable goals.

WHY BECOME A NATIONAL AMBASSADOR?

With an ISAEM membership, you will be joining a highly motivated network of international students eager to advance the field of Emergency Medicine (EM) across the globe. The following are a few of many reasons to join ISEAM:

- ISAEM keeps you updated on EM worldwide
- You will develop your international EM network
- You can advance your professional interests and experiences
- ISAEM encourages your needs and interests

Best of all, you get to work with like-minded individuals who share the same interests and passions!

For more information, please do not hesitate to contact Sparsh Shah at sparsh.shah@mail.utoronto.ca or visit <http://isaem.net/>